

SETTING EXPECTATIONS FOR STAKEHOLDERS

DEEPENING THE VISION

Directions: If teachers are to provide effective curriculum, assessments, and instruction, they cannot do so in isolation. They need to pursue the vision with lots of support from all stakeholders. Therefore, it is appropriate to ask teachers to set expectations for stakeholders so that the school community understands the type of support required for successful teaching and learning. Using the diagram below, ask teachers to collaborate on a set of common expectations of each participant in the school community.
